

IUCN kindly invites the DC Marine Community (DCMC) to join

Monday, April 6th 2009 @ 3:00-5:00pm

Inter-American Development Bank
1300 New York Avenue, N.W., Washington DC 20577

OCEANS AND CLIMATE CHANGE

- An effort to draw together a broad range of policy and action ideas related to oceans and climate change.
- Discuss the preliminary IUCN working document on ‘Tools and Guidelines for Oceans and Climate Change Actions’
- Engage a broader discussion with IUCN members and partner’s on oceans and climate change initiatives
- General overview on oceans and climate change, followed by a small panel of experts from the NGO community
- Open forum discussion will also include:
 - a) what the marine community at large is working on in regards to oceans and climate change
 - b) what specific actions can be taken in the future
 - c) marine-related climate change initiatives for those involved in climate change negotiations and follow-on implementation activities
- Primary goal is to draw together a broad range of community perspectives, along with policy and action ideas for oceans and climate change

RSVP required by Friday April 3rd, 2009: jpalmer@iucnus.org

