

Dr. Harley J. Mitchell Morán

Dr. Mitchell is currently working as National Director of the Legal Environmental Consultancy of the National Authority in Panamá (ANAM). He is also Head of the Environmental Law Department in the Universidad Interamericana de Panamá for the postgraduate degree in Labour, Commercial and Procedural Law. He has worked as lawyer and legal consultant for organizations such as Greenpeace, IUCN, Global Water Partnership (GWP) and the National Environmental Authority of Panama (ANAM). Dr. Mitchell has a Ph.D from the Universidad Complutense de Madrid where he was part of the “Territorial, Legal and Educational Instruments for Sustainable Development” programme. He received his B.A. from the Law and Political Science School at the University of Panamá where he presented a thesis on “Environmental Law and its Role in America’s Development in the year 2000.